

The High Commission of India in Nairobi is pleased to inform that Foventa Limited is organizing All Things Lab and Testing (ATL&T) Expo 2024 from 25-27 July 2024 at the Edge Expo Centre, Nairobi, Kenya.

2. The expo is organized by a pool of experts, influencers and policy makers who have worked in the research and diagnostics space for decades in Africa, and who understand what is required in the marketplace to have a thriving innovation space within the African content. A first of its kind in Africa, ATLT 2024 is positioned as Africa's premier gathering that aims to bring together manufacturers and suppliers of laboratory consumables, apparatus and equipment, and testing service providers on the one hand and consumers of these solutions on the other hand.

3 With anticipated participation of over 10,000 people, this B to B and B to C event comprising exhibitions, side events and business rooms will cut across all sectors including agriculture, health, environment, medicine, engineering and ICT and will benefit private sector, research and academia. It will also provides a rich platform to interact with key decision-makers and influencers in the public and private sector from the laboratory and testing solutions marketplace. More details, registration is available on the event's website accessible following the link - <https://atlt.foventa.africa/> and attached brochure.